Karen Boehler
Deputy Comptroller for Community Banks

Karen Boehler is a Deputy Comptroller for Community Banks at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC).

In this role, Ms. Boehler is responsible for the supervision of financial institutions with assets up to $30 billion. She took on these duties in January 2021.

Prior to becoming the Deputy Comptroller, Ms. Boehler served as the Associate Deputy Comptroller for the Western District. She served the OCC in a variety of bank supervision and leadership roles throughout her 40-year OCC career. Ms. Boehler earned her National Bank Examiner commission in 1989 and the Federal Thrift Regulator certification in 2013.

Ms. Boehler is a graduate of the University of Colorado in Boulder.